A note from Fr. Tom

One of the things that Christianity brought into the world was hospitality. 'Honour hospitality', writes St Paul in his Letter to the Hebrew Christians, 'for some have entertained angels without knowing it.' When one reads the history of Christianity, one comes across many great moments of hospitality. One of those moments was a travel disaster in which the very same St Paul on his way to Rome and judgement by the Emperor was shipwrecked on the island of Malta. 'The Maltese received us with wonderful kindness,' Paul says. Christianity is alive and well in St Canice's for I have experienced this hospitality since I arrived here in late August.
